LYMAN LOCKWOOD DIES IN WOODS OF HEART ATTACK

Taps were sounded Thursday afternoon for Lyman Lockwood, a veteran of the Civil war, living in Jackson township on State road No. 1, four and one-half miles south of Auburn. Mr. Lockwood died suddenly of a heart attack in the woods on his farm sometime before 5 o'clock.

The aged man, as was his custom each day, left the house about 3 o'clock to walk through the woods. He had a path which he followed on his daily excursions and Thursday started to walk to where his sons, Ora and Bert Lockwood, were cutting timber.

The sons were not aware that their father was nearby and after finishing their work they left the woods for supper. Walter Williams, who was also in the woods, went to the house and discovering Mr. Lockwood's absence he searched the house and then went to the woods where he found the body.

Deputy Coroner Howard Clark held an inquest and determined that death resulted from coronary thrombosis or a blood clot in the heart.

Mr. Lockwood was one of eight children of Alonzo and Rosamond Lockwood, pioneers who came to DeKalb county in an early day in a covered wagon and entered land. The elder Lockwood became one of the largest landowners in DeKalb county, owning at one time 3,600 acres.

It was on the farm where his parents first settled that Lyman Lockwood was born 85 years ago. At the age of 16 Mr. Lockwood shouldered a rifle and went to Fort Wayne where he enlisted in 1862 in Co. K., 44th Indiana Volunteer Infantry. He served until the end of the war.

On his return Mr. Lockwood was united in marriage with Mary Whetzel of Jackson township sixty years ago. She survives.

To Mr. and Mrs. Lockwood were born five children, all of whom survive. They are Mrs. Frank Avery of 307 E. 9th St., Auburn, Ora and Bert Lockwood, and Mrs. Nellie Dosch and Mrs. Grace Griffin, residing near the parental home in Jackson township. Also living are nine grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. Cornelia Caruth of 402 West Seventh street, Auburn.

Mr. Lockwood a number of years ago made preparation for his death. From cypress grown on his land he made a casket and for nine years it was kept in Mr. Lockwood's crypt in the mausoleum at Woodlawn cemetery.

The funeral services were held at the Clark funeral home at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Rev. H. F. Craven, pastor of the Auburn Presbyterian church officiating. Interment was made in the mausoleum at Woodlawn cemetery.

FARMER IS FOUND DEAD IN GARAGE, SHOTGUN NEARBY

Officers Believe He Killed Himself

Whether Wm. Lutz, a Grant township farmer, committed suicide or was slain was a question placed before county officers Monday, but it is believed the man killed himself.

Lutz, who was about sixty years old, lived on his mother's farm, located a mile north and a mile east of Waterloo. He was found dead in a tool shed and garage on the farm about 8 o'clock Monday morning. His shotgun was lying about four feet away. A charge of shot had penetrated his chest and lodged near his heart. It was evident that he bled to death and that he had been dead at least eight hours.

What raised an inquiry as to whether it was murder or suicide was the location of the shotgun. It was possible that a slayer had thrown the gun down and fled after committing the deed. However, the officers believe Lutz held the gun himself and that it "kicked" away from him when he pulled the trigger. The charge entered the chest on an angle. It left only a small hole in the body, but shattered some ribs.

It was reported to the officers that Lutz had been discouraged because of finances and that some of his actions recently were peculiar. He went to the home of Paul Ketel, a neighbor, Friday and asked for help in cutting wood. After the work was done Saturday he offered to pay Ketel, but the latter told him he did not want any money, but only the use of a drill press owned by Lutz. Ketel went after the drill press Monday morning and discovered the tragedy.

Wife Away Visiting

Lutz lived with his wife, Mrs. Fern Lutz. A nephew of Mrs. Lutz, Frank Koon, 18, lived with them. Mrs. Lutz went to Fort Wayne Saturday to make a short visit with a brother and a sister. Young Koon last talked with Lutz about 6 o'clock Sunday evening at their home. Then Koon took the automobile from the shed that serves as a garage and went to Waterloo. He returned about midnight, ran the car into the garage and retired. He did not see his uncle, but says he assumed that he was in bed.

The drill press was kept in the same shed with the car. When Ketel went into the shed Monday morning he saw Lutz lying on the floor at the rear of the building. He called to him, but there was no response. Ketel saw there was something wrong and he hastened to Waterloo. Accompanied by Dr. E. A. Ish and Wm. Smith, he returned to the Lutz farm. Dr. Ish determined that Lutz had been dead some time. Sheriff John P. Hoff, Deputy Sheriff Herbert N. Grimm and Deputy Coroner Howard Clark were summoned and made an investigation of the case.

Lutz may have been dead when his nephew drove the automobile into the garage at midnight. Koon stopped the car in the front part of the shed and farm implements obstructed the view to the rear.

A peculiar fact is that when Lutz was found he had his pipe in his mouth. He is said to have been an inveterate smoker.

Young Koon was asleep in the house when his uncle's body was discovered. He went to Fort Wayne at once to get his aunt. The body was removed to the Wm. H. Ettinger undertaking parlors in Waterloo.

A verdict of suicide was returned by the deputy coroner Wednesday. He became convinced that Lutz had taken his own life.

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Fietta Wells, who passed away Wednesday, were held Friday afternoon at her home on South Cowen street with the Rev. Price Roberts, pastor of the Christian church, officiating and interment was made in the cemetery at Lisbon. The grandsons acted as pallbearers and the granddaughters carried flowers. Relatives and friends from out of town who attended the services were: Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. George Wells and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Hevel and daughter, Thira, Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Elbersen, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Smith and son, Virgil, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Summers, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Rodenbeck, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Hevel Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wells and Mr. and Mrs. Garel Wells of Fort Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Beber, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Lawhead, Morris Elsner, Miss Orma Elsner, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Wells and Mr. and Mrs. William Wells of Auburn, D. F. Boszor, Miss Anna Leighty, Mr. and Mrs. Duren Leighty and Mr. and Mrs. John Dudley of Kendallville.

BROTHER OF MRS. MARK STUCK TAKES OWN LIFE

Worried Over Questioning in Connection with Explosion at Fort Wayne.

Mark B. Shull of Fort Wayne, 37, a brother of Mrs. Mark B. Stuck of South Harrison street, committed suicide by hanging himself in the Standard Oil company bulk station, Leesburg Road and Nickel Plate railroad, in Fort Wayne, where he was employed as night watchman. The body was found at 6:30 Tuesday morning.

When found, the hands were tied in front of him with a loose knot, a fact which at first caused a belief that he had met with foul play. On investigation, however, it was found that he had left a note in his pocket. He probably had tied the knot around his hands to take up the slack in the rope. Evidently Mr. Shull had fastened one end of the rope to a chain hoist after climbing on an oil truck, then tied the other end about his neck and stepped off.

The note which was found in his pocket said: "I am still maintaining my innocence. M. B. Shull." Officials of the Standard Oil company said that Shull had been questioned about an explosion of an oil burner at the plant Sunday morning. He had not been accused of being responsible, but he seemed to believe that he was suspected and worried over it.

The police believe that Shull had planned to take his life Monday at 5:30 p. m. when he left for work, because he made a special effort to bid each member of his family good-bye before leaving home.

Besides his widow and two daughters, Mr. Shull is survived by his mother, Mrs. Eva Shull, and his brother, Garth, both of Coburn's Corners, Spencer township, and three sisters, Mrs. L. A. Mercer of Antwerp, O., Mrs. Geo. Hunt of St. Joe, and Mrs. Stuck.

Victims of the crash were Arthur Stevens, 51, and Forrest Witt, 18, both of Kendallville.

Both were killed instantly when one of the Kimmel dairy trucks, in which they were riding, was struck by a west bound Twentieth Century Limited.

Several persons arrived at the scene soon after the crash, but no one could be found who saw the truck drive in front of the fast train. Whether Mr. Stevens, who was driving the truck, failed to see the approaching train or the truck slid onto the tracks or stalled in the snow, could not be determined.

The train was brought to a stand, still backed to the scene of the crash and then proceeded.

The engineer of the train claims he sounded the whistle when he saw the truck approach the tracks.

The crossing is protected by flasher signals which were checked at 7:25 o'clock, following the accident, and at that time were operating properly. According to the records the lights had been tested at 6:50 o'clock, 23 minutes before the crash, and were marked in proper operation.

The body of Stevens was still in the wreckage of the truck cab, behind the steering wheel, and the body of Witt was thrown clear of the truck, a distance of about ten feet. MILES W. SMITH, BLIND VETERAN, DIES IN HIS YARD

Heart Attack Proves Suddenly Fatal

The death of Miles W. Smith, a blind veteran of the Civil war who had lived in Garrett forty-seven years, took place suddenly Tuesday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock at his home, 1104 South Cowen street.

Mr. Smith was eighty-two years of age and had been blind for five years. His general condition, however, seemed to be very good considering his age. He was assisting Chas. Newman, a neighbor, in building a fence around the yard of the Smith home Tuesday afternoon. As Lyle Riddle, a meter reader for the Northern Indiana Fuel & Light Co., went onto the porch of the residence of J. J. McDermott, who lives next door to the Smith home, Mr. Smith spoke to him. Before Mr. McDermott had time to answer Mr. Riddle's rap on the door, Mr. Smith collapsed.

Mr. Riddle saw the aged man fall and he, Mr. Newman and Mr. McDermott rushed to his side, but Mr. Smith was already dead. A physician was called and pronounced heart disease as the cause of death.

Deputy Coroner Howard Clark of Auburn, was called and held an inquest, finding that death was due to a heart attack brought on by over-exertion.

After being prepared at the Geo. W. Iler undertaking parlors, the body was returned to the Smith home Wednesday morning. The funeral will be held at the Garrett M. E. church Friday afternoon at 2:30. The pastor, the Rev. Burl M. Bechdolt, will be assisted by the Rev. H. J. Jordan of the Presbyterian church. Interment will be made in Calvary cemetery in Garrett.

Mr. Smith was born Dec. 2, 1849, in Jefferson county, New York. When he was two years old the family moved from New York to Hudson, Mich. At the age of fourteen he enlisted in the Union army on Aug. 29, 1864, and joined Company B, 4th regiment of Michigan volunteer infantry. He was discharged May 26, 1866, at Houston, Tex. His rank was that of a corporal.

Mr. Smith, who was then farming, and Sarah M. Wolfe were married at Hudson Jan. 24, 1869, and they moved to Garrett in 1885. Mr. Smith entered the employ of the Baltimore and Ohio as a locomotive fireman. For many years he was a member of the grievance committee of the B. of L. F. & E. In 1909 he lost the sight of one eye which was scalded in an accident and he was forced to retire. He gradually lost the sight of the other eye and was totally blind for the last five years.

Mrs. Smith died Oct. 27, 1928. Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Cora Beehler, who made her home with her father; one sister, Mrs. Lavina Buck of Williamsburg, Mich.; four grandchildren and five great grandchildren. One son, Frank, is dead.

FOUND DEAD OF HEART ATTACK*Had Expired Many Hours Before Discovery of His Body

Lloyd Oster, aged 42, the owner of a soft drink parlor at Corunna, was found dead Sunday morning about 10:45 in an outside toilet at his home.

Deputy Coroner Howard Clark of Auburn, conducting an investigation, thinks Mr. Oster went to the toilet after shutting up his place Saturday night, suffered an attack of the heart and fell over on the floor. Mr. Clark based his findings on the fact that Mr. Oster had not been in the house and the bed had not been slept in. He gave as his opinion that death resulted from acute coronary thrombosis, or blood clot in the heart.

The deceased was single and lived alone.

He is survived by two brothers, John and Ellsworth Oster of Corunna and three sisters, Mrs. C. M. Johnson of Hamilton, Mrs. William Aldrich, residing south of Corunna and Mrs. Archie McDonnell of Corunna.

The accident in which Albert Kichler, 60, of near Columbia City, was killed late Thursday was solved Friday when Louis Kocher, about 50, told Sheriff H. F. Stickler that his car had struck the man. Kichler was walking along state road 2, early Thursday night when he was struck. He died soon after Clement Ley of Fort Wayne, found him at the roadside. Kocher said that he did not know he had struck anyone, but that Friday when he learned that someone had been killed on state road 2 he recalled that he had heard a noise near that point as he was driving a truck into Churubusco. Kocher said that he heard the impact just as he passed another car, but at the time he could see nothing ahead of him because his lights were weak and he was blinded by the lights of the approaching automobile. Sheriff Stickler revealed that pieces of headlamp glass found near Kichler's body fitted the places where glass had been broken from one headlight on Kocher's truck. The radiator and one fender of the truck were damaged. Both Sheriff Stickler and Coroner O. F. Lehmberg indicated that no blame attaches to Kocher for the accident. Kocher was not held.

J. A. FLETCHER'S WIFE, DERANGED, HANGS HERSELF

Body Found Suspended from Door

Mrs. Jessie Fletcher of 105 East First street, Auburn, wife of John A. Fletcher, manager of the Garrett Brass & Aluminum Foundry Co., came to her death sometime before midnight Monday by hanging herself in her bedroom.

Discovery of the rash act was made when Mr. Fletcher and daughter, Jeanne, returned from a dance revue at the Court theatre. Jeanne had participated in the revue, which Mr. Fletcher attended at the request of Mrs. Fletcher and against his own wishes.

The body was discovered by Mr. Fletcher when he climbed through a window of his wife's bedroom in the second story of the house. She had used two bathrobe cords, which she had thrown over a door, and she had strangled to death.

Mrs. Fletcher had not been well for a year. A month ago she was operated at the Dr. Bonnell Souder hospital. Upon her return home she brooded over her condition, frequently remarking that she was a burden. She made an attempt at suicide about two weeks ago when she was discovered inhaling gas.

Monday evening about the time for Jeanne to go to the theatre and as her mother was lying in the sun-room on a couch she suggested to Mr. Fletcher that he go and see the revue. He replied that he ought to remain at home but upon his wife's insistence he went.

In the meantime a woman who had been engaged to stay at the home was instructed by Mrs. Fletcher not to disturb her if the telephone rang. She would retire, she said, and get some needed rest. Mrs. Fletcher went upstairs, ostensibly to go to bed.

After Mr. Fletcher and Jeanne returned home Mr. Fletcher went upstairs and found all of the doors locked. He then entered by way of a window.

Deputy Coroner Howard Clark of Auburn, was notified at 11:30 o'clock and he found that Mrs. Fletcher evidently had taken her own life immediately after telling her attendant that she intended going to bed. The coroner rendered a verdict of suicide by reason of temporary mental derangement.

Mrs. Fletcher was thirty-eight years of age last December 2 and was the only daughter of Mrs. Lottie Bollinger of 110 West Third street, Auburn. She graduated from the Butler high school and near Christmas time in 1918 she was united in marriage with Mr. Fletcher. They had one child, who is twelve years old.

LESLIE HAYES IS DEAD; BROTHER TO ANSWER IN COURT

Inquest is Held at Fort Wayne

As the result of the death of Leslie Hayes, 22, of Fort Wayne in Auburn Friday evening, Humbert Hayes, 25, also of Fort Wayne was charged in an affidavit with first degree murder Saturday in the Allen circuit court. Otto W. Koenig of Fort Wayne, prosecuting attorney, filed the affidavit.

Leslie died at 6:20 o'clock at the Dr. Bonnell Souder hospital as the result of being shot last Monday night by Humbert in an argument over the possession of an automobile.

A post mortem was held on the body by a local physician in the presence of John P. Hoff, sheriff of DeKalb county, his deputy, Herbert Grimm, Chief of Police Charles Davis and John R. Clark, coroner. The autopsy disclosed that a .38 calibre bullet was lodged in the spine at the eleventh dorsal vertebrae and the other in the thick part of the left leg below the thigh.

After the post mortem the body was removed to a Fort Wayne funeral home.

The condition of the injured young man, 22 years of age, had been critical ever since he was shot. Friday it was reported at the hospital that there was no change from the previous day when it appeared that he was gaining strength. Friday afternoon he took a turn for the worse and sank rapidly. He had been conscious all of the time and suffered great pain.

Held Without Bond

Judge Clarence R. McNabb ordered the alleged slayer held without bond. Humbert was formally arrested on a warrant for murder by deputies of Sheriff Fred G. Lunz Saturday afternoon at the Allen county jail.

The affidavit was filed after a conference between Judge McNabb and Prosecutor Koenig, at which it was decided not to call the grand jury to investigate the fatal shooting until soon after the opening of the September term of court on September 5. Court will be in vacation between the end of the April term in two weeks and the beginning of the September session.

The judge and state's attorney concluded that inasmuch as it would be impossible to try the alleged slayer before this fall, there was no need to obtain an indictment against him until then. Whether indicted or not, Humbert would have to spend the summer in jail, it was pointed out. In the meantime other cases may arise for the grand jury to go into in September.

In the affidavit Humbert is accused of shooting Leslie "purposely and with premeditated malice," the wounds proving fatal.

The day after the shooting Leslie made a full statement of the case and later signed it.

The original stories of Humbert differed from the wounded youth's account, but after a day of questioning the elder brother made a complete confession and his story tallied closely with that told earlier by Leslie.

The brothers resided at 224 West Douglas avenue, Fort Wayne. Leslie was employed at the Keenan hotel, where Humbert had been employed at one time. The younger brother owned a light coupe and it was in his car the two drove Monday night to the home of Charles Cook near Spencerville, where Humbert arranged for employment.

After they left the Cook home, the two began arguing about possession of the automobile. Leslie insisting upon keeping it in Fort Wayne, while Humbert wanted to take it with him to the country. After driving a while, Humbert shot his brother twice, one shot narrowly missing the heart, turning downward and lodging in the spine, and the other bullet entering the youth's leg.

Then Humbert shoved his brother to the other side of the seat, got behind the wheel and started driving. While they were on the county line road, Leslie succeeded in stopping the car by turning the ignition switch. His cries for help brought farmers who captured Humbert and called the sheriff.

The Hayes brothers moved to Fort Wayne from Missouri four years ago. Two sisters reside at Fort Wayne, Mrs. Wayne Dunn and Mrs. Robert Thomas. The father resides in Missouri, the mother being dead.

In a statement made after he was brought to the hospital in Auburn, Leslie charged that his brother shot him twice during an argument over possession of an automobile. The shooting occurred in Allen county, three miles south of the DeKalb county line.

The first statement was taken by DeKalb county authorities. Later Allen county authorities took a short statement from the wounded youth.

The funeral will be held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at the Central Church of Christ in Fort Wayne, and interment will probably be made at Butler, Mo.

No details of the tragedy were given, but it was stated that the body had not yet been found. Mrs. Dean and another son, Geo. R. Dean, left Garrett Thursday afternoon for Washington.

There it was learned that Harold had gone to the creek for a swim about 9:30 Wednesday night with his brother-in-law, Norval VanHouten. The stream had been swollen by a rain-storm and when Harold stepped into the water he was carried off his feet by the swirling current.

Mr. VanHouten swam after him and succeeded in pulling him from under a mass of driftwood. Both men were clinging to the driftwood when a surge of the current carried Harold away. His brother-in-law was borne about fifty feet down stream before he could swim ashore. He ran several hundred feet below to a sandbar, thinking he would be able to see and rescue Harold as he was swept by, but he saw no trace of him.

Police and others formed a rescue squad of nearly 100 and searched the stream. A powerful searchlight was also set up on a bridge below the scene of the tragedy. However, it was not until Thursday afternoon that the body was found a mile below where he disappeared.

A military funeral was held Saturday morning at the Tabor funeral home in Washington, with burial in Arlington National cemetery.

Mrs. Mary Belle Riser, aged 63, of Butler, died suddenly Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. An inquest held by Howard Clark of Auburn, deputy coroner, disclosed that death was due to coronary thrombosis, or heart trouble.

Mrs. Riser made her home at Butler during the summers and died at the residence of Mrs. Otto Knapp at 243 South Broadway. To a caller, Mrs. Mary Rose, who was in the room, she said "I feel so badly." Thereupon she lay down on her bed and expired.

Body Identified by Masonic Ring

LeRoy Smith and son, Paul, of North Randolph street returned Friday afternoon from West Salem, O., where they attended the funeral of their half-brother and uncle, the late Otha P. Smith, who met his death when the boiler on Baltimore & Ohio train No. 5 exploded last Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Wolff of South Harrison street returned home Saturday afternoon from West Salem. Mrs. Wolff was the mother of Otha Smith.

The service was held Thursday afternoon at the Masonic temple at West Salem. The pastor of the West Salem Methodist church delivered a sermon and the thirty-second degree Masons performed their rites. Interment was made in the cemetery at West Salem.

Mr. Smith and his fireman, H. E. Scott, were scalded beyond recognition, but Mr. Smith was identified by the Masonic ring he was wearing. His body was thrown into Pine creek, about fifty feet from the coal tender, and the fireman was hurled onto the west bound track. A gold watch case evidently belonging to the fireman was found near his body, but the works were missing.

The blast was heard within a radius of five miles. The boiler hurtled through the air against the rocky hillside and fell on the eastbound track about 250 feet from the coal tender. The frame, its wheels intact, raced down the track for near 600 feet. The sand dome, cab and other heavy pieces of metal shot into the air and showered nearby fields. Some of the debris shot upward more than 120 feet to the crest of the hillside. The cab roof, blown several hundred feet, tore down telephone and telegraph wires and demolished a crane on which mail is suspended.

The 84 passengers of the train escaped injury because the blast sent the boiler and other tons of twisted metal forward. The coal tender and the 10 cars were not derailed. The passengers were asleep and some were hurled from their berths. Automatic brakes stopped the train.

The speed of the train was estimated at thirty miles an hour as it entered Allison Park. The engineer sounded his whistle at a bridge 200 feet from the station just before the boiler exploded. A man who was nearby said he heard a minor explosion and then a major one.

Two train riders who were on the coal tender leaped from the train and fled to the top of the hillside, escaping injury.

Rollroad officials are trying to determine the cause of the blast. The damage to the locomotive was estimated at $75,000.

Mr. Downend went to look for his son and found him lying on his back in the alley near the garage, the revolver nearby. Burr had shot himself through the heart while standing and doubtless died instantly. Coroner John R. Clark was summoned and a short time later the body was removed to the Geo. W. Mr. White was thrown out of his car from the force of the crash and alighted on the hard surfaced road. He was in a critical condition when taken to the hospital.

RUSSELL MYERS SHOOTS HIS WIFE, THEN SUICIDES

Tragedy Takes Place in Noble County

Russel Myers, 35, Monday night shot and killed his wife, Emma, 32, and then ended his own life by shooting himself through the head at their home two miles southeast of Wolcottville. The double tragedy is believed to have been the culmination of a domestic quarrel.

The gruesome find of the bodies was made Tuesday morning about 10:30 o'clock by Emory Hoffman of Kendallville, a brother-in-law of Myers, when he stopped at their home. He entered the rear door and stepping through the kitchen into the dining room first saw the body of the wife lying on the floor in the doorway between the dining room and a bedroom. The body of Myers was on the bed. Mr. Hoffman immediately went to the home of Myers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Myers, who reside a short distance west from the son's home.

Coroner Herald P. Shew of Kendallville, was called and started an investigation. Examination of the bodies revealed that Mrs. Myers had been shot through the heart and Myers had placed the gun against his right temple. The gun, a .25 calibre Colt automatic, was found lying on the pillow beside the head.

On the dining room table was found a note which read: "Goodbye. Take good care of Virginia." The note was signed "Russel," Virginia, 14, the only child of the tragedy victims, went to Kendallville Monday evening to spend the week with Vivian Taggart and attend the fair.

Dead 12 Hours, Belief

Mr. and Mrs. Myers were last seen by the former's parents. In the evening the young couple went to the Frank Myers home and remained until about 9 o'clock. They did not quarrel during that time. The condition of the bodies indicated that the shooting occurred within an hour after their return home. Coroner Shew said.

After returning to their home Mr. Myers had changed his clothing, removing his overalls which he wore while at his parents' home. When found he was attired in a shirt and a pair of light trousers.

Myers was born near Wolcottville and always resided in that community. He was united in marriage with Emma Brummen about fifteen years ago. Mrs. Myers was a native of Redkey, Ind. She came to Rome City sixteen years ago and was employed before her marriage at the Spring Beach hotel.

Myers leaves besides his parents and daughter one sister, Mrs. Emory Hoffman of Kendallville. Mrs. Myers is survived by four sisters and one brother, the majority residing in Fort Wayne.

She had been up and about the house during the day and in the evening although she complained to Mrs. Sheffer that she felt sick at her stomach. She appeared in her usual health.

NEPHEW OF MRS. O.T. UMBENHOUR DIES OF INJURY

Funeral Held at D.H. White Home in Auburn

The funeral of Wilson R. Adams, 21, of near LaGrange, a nephew of Meloss R. White of 409 West Eleventh street, Auburn, and of Mrs. O. T. Umbenhour of South Harrison street, Garrett, were held at the White home Wednesday afternoon with the Rev. E. J. Wicks, senior pastor of the Auburn Methodist church, officiating. Entombment was made in Roseclawn.

Mr. Adams died Monday morning at the Dr. Harry Erwin hospital in LaGrange as the result of a blow on the abdomen while boxing and playing with companions at his home last Friday. He was taken to the hospital Sunday evening when he became violently ill and an operation was performed at midnight in an effort to save his life. Dr. Erwin reported that the intestines had been ruptured.

"Accidental death by a blow on the abdomen" was the verdict of County Coroner John P. Caten of LaGrange.

The youth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will R. Adams, have asked county authorities and friends to withhold names of those who were in the fatal scuffle with their son. Wilson's father said they had been "boxing only in fun."

Surviving besides the parents are one sister, Virginia, at home; a grandmother, Mrs. Ella Adams of LaGrange, and a grandfather, George B. Wilson of near LaGrange.

The body was brought to Auburn Wednesday morning.

Conflicting Stories

LaGrange, Ind., Aug. 23. — Just what caused the death of Wilson R. Adams, aged 21, of Brushy Prairie son of Mr. and Mrs. Will R. Adams appeared to be a matter of wide conjecture here today.

Adams died in the Dr. Harry Erwin hospital here Monday following an operation Sunday night in an effort to save his life.

According to reports prevalent Monday, the young man's death resulted from a blow received in a "friendly" boxing match. A published verdict allegedly returned by Coroner John P. Caten said "Accidental death by a blow on the abdomen."

Early today, however, Coroner Caten was reported to have said he had not returned a verdict and did not intend to do so. Later he purportedly retracted his statement and announced that a verdict of death by "mesenteric thrombosis as the result of an injury" probably would be filed some time during the day. The coroner did not indicate the cause of the injury.

According to reports Monday young Adams' parents were said to have acknowledged their son was injured in a "friendly" boxing bout but refused to reveal the names of those who were supposed to have taken part in the play that resulted in the death of Adams.

Today the parents were said to have denied any knowledge of an injury to the young man, and the boxing episode was branded as false.

Coroner Caten also was reported to have said that no report of an injury received in a boxing match was made to him. He stated that an inquest would be held.

AS GIRL LOSES CONTROL OF CAR, CHILD IS KILLED

Tragedy Takes Place Near Howe

LaGrange, Sept. 7.—A pleasure ride in an automobile by four children who have been spending the summer at Klingor lake, five miles west of Sturgis, ended in tragedy a short distance west of Howe this afternoon when the automobile crashed into a bank, rolled over and killed one of the occupants. The others escaped with minor injuries.

The dead child is Catherine Grove, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Grove of Riverside, Ill., a suburb of Chicago.

She was riding with Arthur Erwin, 14, whose father owns the automobile; Helen Erwin, 15, cousin of Arthur and driver of the car, both residing in Chicago, and Joan Hagerman, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hagerman of Sturgis.

Apparently the driver lost control of the machine in the gravel and the car ran into a bank along the road. The auto then rolled over, throwing the Grove child out as it did so. She struck her head on something, fracturing her neck and causing her death within a few minutes.

The auto completed its roll right side up in a garden at the Robert Giggy home. The other three children remained in the car and suffered only bruises and cuts.

PARALYSIS FATAL TO GEO. B. MONN, ALTONA CITIZEN

Stricken While Working at Gravel Pit

The possibility was considered Tuesday that Clinton Weber, 35, widely known farmer of two miles south of Albion, hanged himself unintentionally Sunday night trying to scare his family. Weber's lifeless body was found suspended from a tree near his home, a rope from a child's swing having been used. His wife, Viva Weber, said that he had not been in a despondent mood and had given no indication that he contemplated suicide. However, shortly before he left the house for the last time, his wife said that he remarked that he "guessed he'd hang himself." The remark was not made seriously, his wife thought. Not long afterward she found his body. It was believed that he may have suspended himself by the neck in an effort to frighten the family, but strangled before he could call aid. The death tree was used by the children as a swinging place and is near the house. The deceased was the father of six children.

The death of George B. Monn, aged sixty-six years, took place at his home in Altona at 3:25 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Death was due to paralysis. Mr. Monn was born July 7, 1866, a son of Peter and Elizabeth Monn, on a farm in Pennsylvania, where he lived until he came to Garrett as a child. For twenty-seven years he had made his home in Altona. His occupation was that of a trucking contractor.

Mr. Kimsey had attended the annual reunion of the famous 44th infantry, of which he was a member during the Civil war, at Fort Wayne last week. He was talking with members of the Thomas W. Stuart family when he was suddenly stricken and died within a few moments.

While residing in Auburn as a youth Mr. Kimsey, with several companions walked the entire distance to Fort Wayne to see their first railroad train, when the Pennsylvania railroad started operations from the east. The pioneer recalled that he and his companions, without food or money, became hungry after the tiring hike from Auburn, and finally secured some food from an aunt of Mr. Kimsey's at Fort Wayne before returning to Auburn.

Mr. Kimsey was the oldest veteran present at the reunion of the 44th infantry. He remained at Fort Wayne following the reunion for a visit at the Stuart home planning to return to Douglas this week. One bullet struck Mrs. Morr in the upper right chest and another in the back. Mrs. Morr said afterward that she heard another bullet pass her head. The fourth bullet in the gun missed fire.

Mrs. Morr, screaming, ran downstairs and onto the front porch. A neighbor, Frank Draggoo, heard her and ran to her aid. Her dress was burning where the bullets pierced it and Mr. Draggoo extinguished the blaze. He called to Mrs. Philip Kretz, another neighbor, and they helped Mrs. Morr to the library of her home. Mr. Draggoo summoned Sheriff John P. Hoff.

Mrs. Morr was removed to the Souder hospital and her condition was such that it was not deemed advisable to probe for the bullets.

"I went back to Hartford City Nov. 10 but didn't go out to the farm until the following day.

"My aunt and uncle were in the barn when I arrived. I went to the house and got a .17 gauge shotgun. When my aunt came into the house I killed her, and then I did the same thing to my uncle."

They had told the authorities about riding from Fort Wayne to Hartford City the day before the murder with a man resembling Moore.

DECIDE HAROLD ENGLISH OF AUBURN KILLED HIMSELF

The death of Harold English of Auburn was suicidal. It has been established beyond the question of a doubt. The young man, a driver for the Berkes dairy was found dead Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock in the garage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Burroughs at the corner of Fifteenth and Dallas streets, where he roomed.

The body was lying on the concrete floor, fully clothed and around him was wrapped a blanket. His head was within a foot of the exhaust pipe of the car. The switch was on and the key was in the switch of the car, but the engine was not running at the time of the discovery of the body. Death was due to monoxide poisoning.

The young man had gone to the garage the night before made all preparations by starting the engine and then lay down to suffocate from the fumes of the gas. A specimen of blood was sent to Indianapolis to be analyzed after an autopsy disclosed that monoxide poisoning had ruptured the heart and lungs.

The parents, residing near St. Louis, Mich., were notified and arrived in Auburn early Thursday morning. In the meantime a St. Louis undertaker had taken the body to the home of the parents.

Told Suicide Plan

A letter which Harold English of Auburn wrote to Wilbur Walter, residing south of Auburn before the young man committed suicide Tuesday night by monoxide gas poisoning, discloses the fact that he had planned to take his life. Mr. Walter turned the letter over to Coroner J. R. Clark of Auburn. The contents follow:

Auburn, Ind. Dec. 26, 1932

Dear Pete—

A little trouble, Wilbur. Oh, well, I heard several days ago there would be. What proof have I that I ever turned any money over to the boys—so there you are.

Enclosed find postal savings for $50. If you can use it, Pete, take it. Then I want you to kinda take a personal charge over my effects—see that the folks get it.

All important papers, Wilbur, will be back of the back seat of my car. And so thanking you, Wilbur and Jennie, for all you have done for me, I wish you luck and happiness.

As ever,

Harold.

The trouble was respecting stories the young men heard that he was short a large sum of money to his employers, the Berkes dairy, for which he delivered milk, according to the coroner.

According to testimony given the coroner, it was said that the Berkes dairy owed Harold $10 for securing new customers and the coroner stated that Harold's employers testified at the inquest that this sum was due Harold. The testimony further shows that the dairy firm claimed Harold owed money, taken from collections on his route, the coroner said.

There was to be a settlement on the day following the suicide and Harold had been told to make the alleged shortage good.

Believing he would not be able to square the account with the Berkes the matter preyed on the mind of the suicide and he lay down on the floor of a garage at the home where he roomed and started the engine of his car.

Harold had been receiving $5 a week as wages and he claimed he could not live on that amount. He had made arrangements with Mr. Walter, his former employer, to start working for him again after Christmas.

The Rev. E. J. Wickersham of the Auburn M. E. church officiated at the J. R. Clark funeral home in Auburn and burial was made in Woodlawn cemetery. Mrs. Sebert was seventy-seven years of age and died as she was seated at the dinner table.

Funeral services for the late Mrs. William Lanning of Waterloo, who died Thursday night as the result of nephritis, were held Sunday afternoon at the home in Waterloo, the Rev. Joseph Ferguson of Auburn, officiating. Burial was made in the Woodlawn cemetery, Auburn.

Funeral services for the late Harold Preston of Chicago, who died in that city Friday morning from an operation, were held Monday afternoon at the Dilgard Bros. funeral home in Auburn with the Rev. Hartung of Fort Wayne, officiating. Interment was made in Woodlawn cemetery.
